

WHAT “COMMUNITY” MEANS TO BINGAMAN & SON LUMBER January 27th, 2021

This past year has been challenging, to say the least, on not only our employees and stakeholders, but certainly our customers and indeed our country. But while the COVID-19 pandemic has in many ways changed the manner in which we work, the way we interact with each other, and the means by which we engage our customers, it has also served in a noticeable way to bring us closer together, strengthening the notion that Bingaman & Son Lumber Company is truly a family of employees giving our very best each day to serve our customers and our community.

Service to our customers and community is the very core of who we are at Bingaman, and the pandemic crisis, which continues in its ferocity, has only proved to be a catalyst to further define and embolden our commitment to service. We come to work each and every day sharing our time and talents to serve one another and our valued community of customers. We leave work each day confident that we have worked tirelessly to better ourselves, our company, and our lumber products. We do this, of course, all for a much greater purpose than ourselves, and to make a lasting, positive impact on our community.

One very tangible way in which our service to the community manifests itself is in the organizations we support through both charitable giving and volunteerism. So, here we are highlighting many of those organizations Bingaman not only supports and holds dear, but which we know are doing great things to serve others and better our world.

MACC The mission of the Middle Creek Area Community Center (MACC) is to provide a wholesome environment with leadership that fosters unity, social and emotional stability, high moral standards, and physical fitness through friendly competition and good fun, without regard to age, sex, race, color, creed, national origin, religious belief, or financial ability. The community center is a non-sectarian, community-based organization dedicated to meeting the needs of the citizens in the communities it serves.

Haven Ministries

The mission of Haven Ministries is to respond, through faith in God's covenantal relationship with us, to the basic needs of God's people by providing emergency shelter, nurturing, and advocacy for individuals and families in the Central Susquehanna Valley Area.

Pennsylvania Wounded Warriors, Inc.

Pennsylvania's veterans have served their nation in every conflict. Many of these men and women are recovering physically, mentally or emotionally at a military hospital, Veteran's Administration medical facility or with their families at home – and need financial support. PAWW is an independent statewide non-profit 501(c)(3) organization providing support to Pennsylvania Wounded Warriors, Veterans in Crisis, and their families. We are not affiliated with nor a part of any national organization, including Wounded Warrior Project, and we do not receive any funds from them. We provide emergency financial assistance to veterans to help pay for housing, utilities, transportation, medical and other expenses. We pay directly to landlords, vendors and creditors.

The American Red Cross serving Central Pennsylvania provides vital services to the 21 county regions 365 days a year—from responding to home fires in local neighborhoods to teaching first aid and CPR to community groups

SUNCOM Industries

SUNCOM Industries is a nonprofit, human services agency, which helps people with developmental and physical disabilities improve the quality of their lives. Our goal is to provide the vocational training and skill development for individuals to grow to their fullest potential.

The Susquehanna Council, Boy Scouts of America

The Susquehanna Council, Boy Scouts of America serves more than 2500 youth through the adult leadership of 1200 adult volunteers. Scouting provides programs to youth in 5 counties in Central Pennsylvania - Snyder, Northumberland, Clinton, Union and Lycoming. We are building character in the youth of our communities, one boy at a time! Who we serve: 2500 young men and women of our local communities, 1200 adult leaders, 120 packs, troops and venture crews and 19 school districts.

Susquehanna Valley Women In Transition

At SVWIT our focus remains as it has been since 1975 - helping survivors of violence transition to lives of safety and independence. Through the years we have transitioned and expanded our services to meet the needs of women, men and children who are victims of domestic violence, sexual assault and other serious crimes - hence the name, TRANSITIONS.

The Regional Engagement Center

The Regional Engagement Center (R.E.C.) is a multi-generational community center serving eastern Snyder County.

The R.E.C. was created in response to the 2014 Community Action Plan developed by the Snyder County Coalition for Kids. The top three priorities for the Snyder County Coalition for Kids are to decrease youth drug abuse, decrease youth anti social behaviors, and provide positive social opportunities for youth in the Snyder County Area. The Regional Engagement Center's focus is on accessible resources for community members and youth development during their most vulnerable times, primarily after school and during the summer.

St. Jude Hospital

The mission of St. Jude Children's Research Hospital is to advance cures, and means of prevention, for pediatric catastrophic diseases through research and treatment. Consistent with the vision of our founder Danny Thomas, no child is denied treatment based on race, religion or a family's ability to pay.
